Update on: ShuaiYongDeng

Dear Yiyuan Foundation of Care and,

I'm so delighted to write to you, and I hope the stories that happened to your sponsored child/children during the past half year will make you feel the progress and moving moments as we feel under the love and support from people of all circles including you.

Shuaiyong

Though having been a junior middle school student, Shuaiyong doesn't quit drawing class, instead, he's taken one more class held by the village—the sketch class at weekend. Recently, he's begun to learn clay pot sketch, and the class teacher often praises Shuaiyong. Because of his good painting skills, this semester, Shuaiyong is elected by the class at school to draw blackboard newspaper for the class, which has become a regular place to display his drawing performance. Shuaiyong is quite devoted to the work, he learns harder because he wants to show his best to the class and live up to their expectation. The grade would elect the best blackboard newspaper once in a month, and his class won last month, which was quite an encouragement for Shuaiyong. When the head teacher told the good news at class, whole class became excited and felt honored. The teacher particularly praised Shuaiyong for his work, and he was quite modest. He said: 'The honor belongs to the classmates who work together with me! I must thank them
